The MAPI website in English! www.mapi-sepal.org.br/English.htm

Rachel spent her summer in Brazil working for MAPI. Her biggest project was this website. Let's talk with her about it:

Rachel, you're pretty excited about this site. Tell us why.

It provides practical resources for pastors and leaders that can now be accessed all over the world in English and Portuguese (and soon, Spanish!).

Why should English-speaking friends be interested in the site?

I can think of three reasons:

1. Despite the huge quantity of material in English, I think what we offer is unique in our focus on care for pastors and pastoral leaders, which is the heart of MAPI's vision.
2. Anyone interested in MAPI and our ministry in Brazil can track exciting events and new developments in more detail than can be offered in monthly prayer letters.
3. Many people in the U.S. have asked for our "stuff" in English. Short of translating and publishing books, this is the most practical way to make some of our resources accessible.

You'll be working a few hours a week on the site even when you're back at Wheaton College, right? What will you be doing?

There's a lot of fine-tuning still needed on the site and some links that aren't yet ready. I'll be translating and posting materials and managing the English part of the site, posting prayer letters of MAPI missionaries and monthly praise and prayer requests. If you have a particular interest or suggestion, contact me at Rachel.D.Kornfield@wheaton.edu.

Thank you, Rachel, for all your hard work!

MAPI MISSIONARY CORNER

Please pray for:

1. The MAPI Regional Congress Oct. 6-9 for three central-west states, on the theme: Helping Pastoral Teams Evaluate Their Churches' Health and Do Strategic Planning (with David K, unless Karis has been called for transplant)
2. Development of a five-year plan (2006-2010) for MAPI's ministry in this region and beyond
3. Increased financial support for the Sales family
